It lasts twice as long as others. A trial will convince you of its great merit. Will please the most fastidious. The woman whose nerves are racked by pain, and whose strength is sapped by debilitating diseases, due to weakness and disease of the organs peculiar to women, cannot be happy. She is not only shut out from happiness, but death daily confronts her. Married women afflicted with this disease, if they escape with life, it is only to live a martyr to untold agony. This is needless. The weakness of women have found a cure, and certain remedy has been spoken in no uncertain words of its almost miraculous action.

This remedy is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly upon the organs that make weakness and motherhood possible. It gives them health and vigor. It stops weakening drains, stops inflammation and soothes pain. The nerves, no longer tortured, resume their normal function, directing the healthy action of all the organs of the body. Under its benign influence the weak, sickly, nervous, fearful invalid becomes a robust, capable, helpful, amiable wife, fitted for the duties of motherhood. All good druggists sell it.

The Drouth a Blessing.

Mr. H. F. Hillenmeyer the great blue grass nurseryman, writes as follows in the Lexington Herald of September 18th:

"Farmers just now are grumbling about the dry weather, the shortness of the crops, the scarcity of water, the intensity of the heat, the dryness of the air and every ill that beset their occupation.

"The crop year of 1897 was an exceptionally good one, and it goes without saying that no set of weather conditions can favor equally all his interests. March and April were wet. The plows were idle, and the farmer grumbled. May opened with snow, and was cold throughout, but not very wet. From these conditions come the finest yield of small grain ever known in Kentucky. Corn was planted late, but had it been planted early it would surely have failed to germinate. And then came the high temperature of June and July to foster the late planted corn, and make more than the average crop. But the high temperature is not good for fresh-set tobacco, and it seems to have been a question with Providence if we were to have plenty of corn or plenty of tobacco, and the latter lost out.

"The present plight of the farmer is that it is so hot and dry that he can neither sow nor prepare for wheat. Now, as a matter of fact, from August 1st to September 20, 1896, just a trifle less rain fell than during the same time this year. A similar deficiency has existed many times within the past twenty-five years, without detriment to small grain. The present drought may be vexatious, but an exact knowledge of past weather conditions bring much comfort. Our best grain crops have ordinarily followed a preceding summer drought, that brought soluble phosphates from the lower depths to the surface. Early grain sowing invites the ravage of the Hessian fly in the fall, and smut, minge and rust the following spring. Let us hold our hearts in peace; providence smiles on us. Our wheat is better in the sack than in the soil, just as our corn was last April. But the crop of '98 will not be uniform in yield and quality as was that of '97. When the timely rains come, as they surely will, in the haste and scramble of getting down the largest acreage, many will lose sight of the important factors that conduce to full yield and fine quality.

"Oh, no! The present drought is only the tempered wind to the shorn lambs, and the hidden kindness that makes possible bursting barns and overflowing granaries in 1898."

A Retort Courteous.

The Hon. Josiah Patterson spoke to about fifty people in the county court room last week. As the "sound money Democrats" were filling out of the courthouse after the speaking, a free silver fellow standing on the street hurrahed for Bryan, when some soured gold bug in the crowd(?) followed, "Hurrah for h—l."

"That's right, all of you stand up for your country," replied the free silver man.—Nicholasville Democrat.

Death grimly bars the passage way through the door of happiness for thousands upon thousands of women.

How Lincoln County Will Crush Out Republicanism.

THE democrats of both factions are thoroughly united in this county in their determination to elect the excellent ticket that has been selected for the various offices and the indications are that it is all over but the shouting. This confidence is born of a knowledge of the situation and a reliance in the good sense of the people, but we should not let our belief, founded though it be on bed rock facts, run into over confidence. Our opponents are making a death struggle and when we consider that they will not stop from any means no matter how disreputable, it will be realized that we must not unbend a single effort or let up in the battle until it is fought and won. Get out every vote possible for the party by seeing that those who have no convictions are provided with them, and see that those unfamiliar with the ballots are made to understand them by the means of the several thousand educational ballots printed at this office. Let us all make a strong pull and a pull together, and this paper will tell a tale the day after the election that will fill all Democratic hearts with joy.—Stanford Journal.

Mr. Smith in Jessamine.

Hon. W. B. Smith, of Richmond, made a masterly speech at the court house here Monday, where the crowd gathered about him and filled up the aisles by standing. He did not mount the rostrum but got down close to the crowd and in his familiar and telling way discussed the high tariff of the Dingley bill showing it was framed in the interest of the rich people. The speaker then showed up the gold standard as a fraud and the crime. There is no better advocate of true democracy in Kentucky than Mr. Smith, and his speech here court day had a good effect despite the interruption caused by the fire alarm which was given when he had spoken about an hour. After a few minutes many returned to hear him through. Mr. Smith's always well received here where he personally knows nearly all of our people.—Nicholasville Democrat.

Hon. W. B. Smith, of Richmond, was given a most excellent hearing at the court house Monday afternoon in one of his characteristic speeches. No speaker who has ever visited Nicholasville was ever accorded closer attention by his audience, which was sprinkled with "sound money" Democrats and Republicans. Mr. Smith spoke in the most encouraging terms of the Democratic outlook next month all over Kentucky and said the party was better equipped now for battle than for years. Mr. Smith, who is a very forcible speaker, showed a masterly subject, and is extremely popular with the Jessamine Democrats.

In private conversation with Mr. Smith regarding his candidacy for Governor, he spoke very favorably of the outlook and will make an active canvass at the proper time.—Jessamine Journal.

THE Chicago Record is vigorously agitating the question of establishing postal savings banks. This is a matter that has been much discussed in the past dating back many years. A number of postmaster general recommendations; but congress has never enacted a law carrying the recommendations of any of them into effect.

The object of such an institution is to encourage workingmen and others to save their earnings and it is a good one. Millions of dollars are wasted in this country every year, much of it goes for whiskey and other intoxicants and from men who complain bitterly at their hand lot. About the worst enemy the most workmen have is the saloon. If men, by establishing postal savings banks could be encouraged to husband their earnings it would be a good thing for them and for the nation. Men who have money at hand are too independent and too thoughtful to be debauched by the political bribe-giver.

WHITES STATION.

—W. K. Nelson gave a delightful call pulling at his hospitable Silver Creek home last Thursday.

Price Williams sold to Hugh Galey 300 lbs of corn in field at $1.25.

—Tom Duerson, who advertised his 300-acre farm at public sale, was offered $35 per acre and took it down.

—Chestnut hunting parties are all the go.

Mr. YERKES is a pretty shrewd fellow but his little deception plan can be seen through as easily as if it was a glass window in a dry goods store. Watch in the future and see if he doesn't fill all of the vacancies with Republicans while the Democrats are howling for protection by Civil Service.—Harrodsburg Sayings.

A certain young lady living a few miles distant from Wilmore, Ky., recently found a lot of love letters written by her father to her mother many years before they were married. The daughter read them to her mother, pretending they were of recent date, and substituted her own name for that of her mother's and that of a young man, well known to them both, for her father's. The mother was very much disgusted and has forbidden her daughter to have anything to do with a young man who will write such "nonsense and sickening stuff." Your reporter must be excused from giving their names.—Woodford Sun.

D. C. Terhune, one of the largest male dealers in the State, and who handles annually about 100 sugar mules and 200 cotton mules, in an interview with a correspondent, says that only about 20 per cent. of this year's crop is up to the average. The percentage of mules in the principal counties where he trades rules as follows: Boyle 20 per cent., Mercer 18, Lincoln 15, Washington 12, Anderson 12, Woodford 9, Jessamine 8 and Garrard 6. He further said that the prices paid this year averaged about as follows: For one car of sugar colts $38.50, two loads mixed at $34, one car colts staff staff $28, and one $14.
